

Inspiring the leaders of tomorrow to think for themselves and act for others

MESSAGE FROM MR LAWLOR

On Friday last I had the fortune to attend a meeting of fellow heads of girls' grammar schools, held at Stratford Girls' Grammar School.

This meeting highlighted several points of light. Speaking with colleagues, staff and students demonstrated both the pride and power that animate our girls' schools. I wonder if we, those privileged to be members of girls' school communities, occasionally take for granted how special, safe and supportive our schools are in providing girls and young women with the rich and rewarding opportunities they so deserve.

For example, Sian Cleaver, a CCHS Alumna, has played a significant role in the recently launched Artemis project. Do view the BBC Look East news feature (<https://youtu.be/sxSluSjMqDQ>) for an insight into the journey and work of this remarkable woman. Sian's passions at school included science and languages, which have inspired and shaped her professional life. She is a patron of our CCHS Institute, which provides a home for and inspiration to academic enrichment in our school community. You can find out more about the CCHS Institute via this link to our website The CCHS Institute - Chelmsford County High School for Girls

The reality is that CCHS, as all girls' schools, is blessed with extraordinary young people, who excel in so many ways. Students themselves know this through their friendships. Parents appreciate this through their nurturing. And we, as staff, understand this through our work.

As a testament to what is so wonderful about our community, tomorrow, the CCHS Parents' Association will host our Christmas Fayre. Members of the CCHS community, and beyond, will be warmly welcomed with good cheer, filling refreshments, festive music, as well as plenty of fun and games.

This event, as all that we do, will be a reminder of our strengths as a community, which is driven by a commitment to excellence in girls' education and empowerment.

ARTIST OF THE WEEK-
Gia in Year 10 for this drawing of a manmade and natural object. Well done.

During the summer, Emily Tabor (7G), entered the Essex Year of Reading writing competition. She learned a few weeks ago she won her age category for poetry and has just received her certificate in the post.

Her poem is published on the year of reading app and she will be presented formally as a winner at the end of this month.

CULTURE FEST

28th November- 2nd December

A way to celebrate the many backgrounds and traditions that distinguish our school community...

'Culture Fest' will be a week-long celebration - exploring the many cultural histories of our community. There will be events each lunchtime - ranging from lectures on what shapes identity to live performances. The highlight of the week will be Friday's Cultural Dress Day, when all students will be invited to wear something to celebrate their cultural history - something that has shaped them so far.

This is a wonderful opportunity to celebrate all the vibrant cultures within our school community.

We're excited to announce that Elevate Education's next free webinar will be taking place on Tuesday 29th November.

Elevate Education works with our students, delivering high impact workshops on study skills, motivation, wellbeing, and exam preparation. By tuning into their webinar series you will learn how you can help better support your children at home through reinforcing the skills they learn at school:

Tuesday 29th November @ 6:00pm

How to Help Build Your Child's Resilience

In this webinar Elevate will be showing parents:

What resilience means, what it doesn't mean, and why it's important;

How to help build your child's resilience levels, both in and out of school

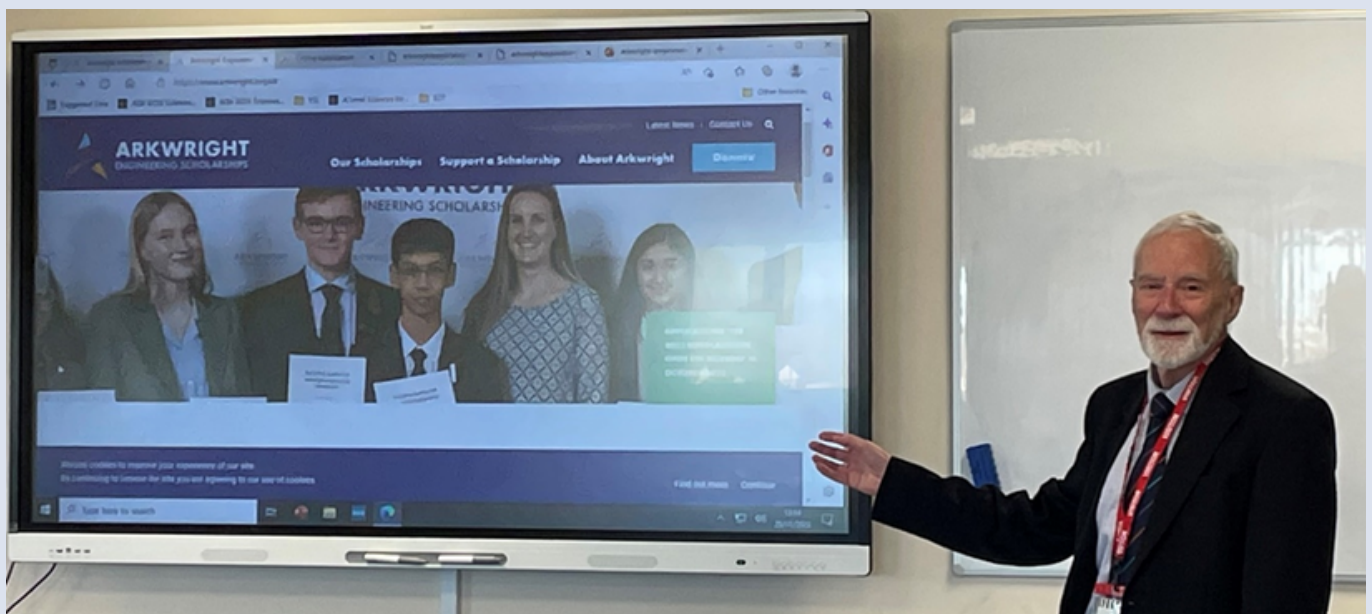

How to help your child break their 'fear of failure'

Arkwright Scholarship Scheme 2023: On Wednesday 23rd November, Stephen Cornish, Liaison Officer, Smallpeice Trust gave a talk to Year 11 about the scholarship programme and the selection process. Year 11 students who are interested in engineering as a career and have some experience in STEM challenges or projects in the past can apply for this scholarship. The screening process consists of three stages: a detailed application with evidence of engineering projects they have done in the past, an aptitude test followed by an interview. If selected, each student will receive £600 which can be used to fund courses or purchase of resources to support their journey into engineering in addition to personalized mentoring programme.

The school will also be receiving £400 per student to support the delivery of STEM subjects. If you would like further information, contact Mrs Kurian or go to the website How to Apply - Arkwright Scholarships Trust .
