Celebration

Our Site Team is an industrious, skilled and dedicated group of colleagues. Before lockdown, as we were living with the developing public health emergency, they, along with our cleaning staff, made sure that everything was as safe and secure as it could be – arriving at school very early, continuing to work during the school day and afterwards.

I want to celebrate the work of Mr Free, our Site Manager, in particular. He is a knowledgeable, skilled and committed colleague. His work is always excellent, with staff and governors commending him, at several points during an academic year, on his leadership of the Site and Premises teams.

With our current extraordinary circumstances, Mr Free's work needs to be acknowledged. He has been looking after our campus, going to the site each day to check that everything is as it should be. This has been made more challenging given our building project, which had started, was then suspended, and has now been revived.

The care and pride Mr Free takes in his work is wonderful. He is always focused on ensuring that the buildings, infrastructure and services are the best they can be to allow the teachers and staff to work effectively with the girls.

On behalf of us all, I offer 'thanks' and 'congratulations' to our Mr Free – we celebrate you.
